Title: For a common migration and asylum policy

Motion text

1 11 November 2023 (lapsing). Renewed for Federal Committee April 2026 Submitted
2 by Political Commission 3: External Affairs & Global Governance

3 Conflicts, political turmoil, economic disparities as well as climate change 4 generate migration towards Europe. The European Union (EU), so far, has proven 5 itself totally unprepared to tackle the human rights violations and humanitarian 6 crisis faced by refugees and migrants, especially at its external borders.
7 Member States are reacting unilaterally and against the common European 8 interest. Unilateral actions are ineffective and damaging to major European 9 achievements and values, such as the Schengen Agreement, peaceful cooperation 10 between Member States and human rights. The Young European Federalists urges the 11 EU to give a stronger common response to this global challenge, in the field of 12 migration, asylum and border control policies.

13 JEF Europe,

14 1. Acknowledging that recent refugee and migration patterns have been markedly 15 different in both character and impact on different Member States;

16 2. Alarmed by the persisting human rights violations and humanitarian crises 17 faced by migrants and refugees in Europe, especially taking into account wars 18 and instability;

19 3. Noting that conflicts, war, human rights abuses, political persecution, lack 20 of perspectives, climate change and growing economic disparities will continue

21 to lead to migrant and refugee arrivals in Europe if these root causes of 22 migration are not seriously addressed;

23 4. Acknowledging that the charge of welcoming refugees is left to countries 24 neighbouring conflicts or other humanitarian disasters and that these countries 25 are often hosting numbers far beyond their capacities;

26 5. Highlights the need for further effective and tangible solidarity with Member 27 States on the Union's external borders experiencing most of the arrivals to 28 ensure that they can provide the highest standards of dignified immediate 29 reception;

30 6. Deploring that the Member States have sidelined the EU in migration and have 31 been unwilling to develop a serious common strategy, have been blocking 32 Commission proposals for a common approach and have prioritised a shallow and 33 populist understanding of the "national interest" at the cost of effective and 34 reasonable common migration and asylum policy;

35 7. Further deploring that the present decision-making procedures are ineffective 36 and exploitable, allowing a small minority, even a single bad-faith actor, to 37 stall decision making indefinitely;

38 8. Believing that the Schengen area and the freedom of movement are two of the 39 greatest achievements of the EU and that they should not only be preserved, but 40 expanded;

41 9. Noting the successful conclusion and adoption of the EU Pact on Migration and 42 Asylum, which will become applicable as of mid-2026, and acknowledging the 43 decrease in irregular arrivals and asylum applications recorded in 2025, which 44 has created a window for effective implementation;

45 10. Noting with concern the European Parliament's approval of amendments 46 broadening the "safe third country" concept, removing the requirement of a link 47 between the asylum seeker and the country of transfer, and eliminating the 48 suspensive effect of appeals, thereby weakening procedural safeguards and 49 triggering a race to the bottom in migrant protection standards;

50 11. Deeply concerned by the European Parliament's approval of a new return 51 regulation allowing detention of migrants, including families and minors, for 52 extended periods, expanding data surveillance, and paving the way for offshore 53 deportation centres, which raises serious concerns about compliance with 54 fundamental rights;

55 12. Deploring that the EU is outsourcing migration management flows by entering 56 into agreements with third countries (Albania, Egypt, Libya, Mauritania, Tunisia 57 and Türkiye) often without adequate human rights safeguards;

58 13. Deploring the EU's plans to fund a Maritime Rescue Coordination Center in 59 eastern Libya under Commander Khalifa Haftar's control, which would extend the 60 "pullback mechanism" already operating in western Libya, resulting in 61 interceptions at sea and returns to Libyan authorities where migrants face 62 arbitrary detention, extortion, and inhuman treatment;

63 14. Condemning the continued formal and informal practices of migration 64 externalisation that actively subvert the principle of non-refoulement, 65 including pushbacks, as documented in judgments of the Court of Justice of the 66 European Union, which strengthened Frontex's legal responsibility in pushback 67 operations;

68 15. Regretting that the EU has given billions of euros to Türkiye since March 69 2016 to detain migrants and refugees in degrading conditions, while 70 acknowledging that the agreement helped to control migration streams at its 71 peak;

72 16. Condemning the signing of the Memorandum of Understanding between the EU and 73 Tunisia, signed in July 2023 which paid little regard to the ongoing gross human 74 rights

75 abuses by the regime against asylum seekers in the country as well as against 76 its own citizens;

77 17. Noting the launch of the new Mediterranean Pact, which aims to strengthen 78 ties with Mediterranean countries, while civil society organisations have raised 79 concerns about limited consultation and insufficient attention to human rights;

80 18. Condemning smugglers of migrants and human traffickers for the inhuman 81 treatment, exploitation and endangerment of innocent lives purely for financial 82 profit;

83 19. Further concerned that externalisation strategies might be more broadly 84 replicated by other countries bordering the EU, instrumentalising refugees and 85 migrants for financial gain and leverage over the EU;

86 20. Deeply concerned that some Member States have denied their responsibility,

87 refused to welcome in their ports ships rescuing the lives of migrants and 88 refugees, and sometimes have gone as far as actively repelling ships, putting 89 lives at risk and possibly breaching international law;

90 21. Convinced that EU-led search and rescue operations in the Mediterranean and 91 in the Aegean Sea are necessary to save lives;

92 22. Condemning the criminalisation of NGOs operating in search and rescue 93 activities in the Mediterranean Sea made by several EU Member States' 94 governments;

95 23. Emphasising that the fundamental rights and duties of a human being declared 96 in the European Convention on Human Rights, the Universal Declaration of Human 97 Rights, the 1951 Geneva Convention and the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the 98 European Union must always be respected;

99 24. Recognising that various pieces of EU legislation have been adopted in order 100 to create a common asylum policy in line with the objective set out in Article 101 78 TFEU, including Directive 2011/95 ("Qualification Directive") and Directive 102 2013/33 ("Reception Conditions Directive");

103 25. Welcoming the European Commission's first European Asylum and Migration
104 Management Strategy, presented in early 2026, which sets out a five-year 105 framework to support Pact implementation;

106 26. Welcoming the establishment of the EU Talent Pool in late 2025, the first 107 EU-wide platform supporting international recruitment of skills and talent from 108 third countries at all skill levels, and the opening of the European Legal 109 Gateway Office in India in early 2026 to facilitate legal migration pathways for 110 ICT professionals, students, and researchers;

111 27. Noting the European Commission's new visa and migration strategy unveiled in 112 early 2026, which proposes enhanced control of visa-free regimes, new 113 restrictive measures for non-cooperative states on readmission, and prioritised 114 visa procedures for "high value-added" individuals at EU level;

115 28. Acknowledging that Member States have committed significantly fewer 116 resettlement places for 2026-2027 compared to previous years, and that 117 relocation commitments have similarly fallen short of the European Commission's 118 targets, while return rates have increased in recent years.

119 JEF Europe, therefore,

120 1. Insists on the need for a common EU policy on migration, asylum, subsidiary 121 protection and temporary protection which fully complies with binding 122 obligations under the European Convention on Human Rights and respects the non- 123 refoulement principle;

124 2. Mandates the EU and its Member States to ensure the swift and effective 125 implementation of the Pact on Migration and Asylum, which will become applicable 126 in mid-2026, with a focus on operational readiness at borders, fair and 127 efficient procedures, and credible solidarity mechanisms;

128 3. Demands that the solidarity mechanism under the Pact be implemented in a way 129 that ensures genuine responsibility sharing between Member States, with 130 transparent reporting on relocations, financial contributions, and alternative 131 solidarity measures;

132 4. Requires the European Commission to closely monitor the implementation of the 133 Pact and to consider infringement procedures against Member States that fail to 134 comply with their obligations, including respect for human rights;

135 5. Exhorts the EU to accelerate the phasing out of the Dublin regulations and 136 adopt a true European asylum policy, fully respecting EU values, human rights 137 and Articles 78–80 TFEU, and relying on solidarity and responsibility sharing as 138 well as on extra assistance to the countries of entry;

139 6. Calls on the EU to include a European refugee status for political dissidents 140 in its migration and asylum policies;

141 7. Demands that in the future, asylum decisions and decisions on return be taken 142 based on unified EU-wide standards, rather than disparate standards defined at 143 the national level;

144 8. Furthermore, calls on the European Commission to consider infringement 145 procedures and financial sanctions against non-compliant Member States in the 146 framework of migration and asylum policies;

147 9. Urges the EU to stop using readmission agreements as the main tool to fight 148 irregular immigration, as this encourages violations of human rights such as the 149 non-refoulement principle guaranteed by the 1951 Geneva Convention;

- 150 10. Calls for an EU policy for the Mediterranean region and beyond, ensuring 151 broad and intensified cooperation with third countries through the Union for the 152 Mediterranean and other multilateral fora in order to fight human trafficking 153 networks, while insisting that such cooperation must include binding human 154 rights clauses, independent monitoring mechanisms, and oversight by the European 155 Parliament;
- 156 11. Demands that the European Border and Coast Guard Agency (Frontex) operates 157 in full compliance with EU values and fundamental rights, and that the agency's 158 legal responsibility for pushback operations, as affirmed by the Court of 159 Justice of the European Union, is fully respected and enforced;
- 160 12. Insists that Frontex is tasked with search and rescue in the Mediterranean 161 and the Aegean Sea and demands the transformation of Operation Themis into a 162 wider and focused EU search and rescue operation of people in distress;
- 163 13. Mandates the establishment of a dedicated, civilian-led EU Sea Rescue 164 Agency, separate from Frontex, with a sole mandate to coordinate and conduct 165 search and rescue operations in the Mediterranean, ensuring that lifesaving is 166 not subordinated to border control objectives;
- 167 14. Invites the EU and its Member States to provide transit countries with 168 extended assistance and further humanitarian supplies to be dedicated to the 169 reception of asylum seekers and refugees;
- 170 15. Calls on the EU to enhance legal and humanitarian pathways to safely reach 171 the EU, without being forced to rely on illegal human trafficking, such as 172 humanitarian visas to refugees;
- 173 16. Calls for the establishment of common European asylum offices in third 174 countries that respect European standards of treatment and human dignity;
- 175 17. Demands with immediate effect the decriminalisation of private sea rescue by 176 EU states;
- 177 18. Encourages the EU to open legal channels for economic migration;
- 178 19. Requires the further expansion of legal migration pathways, including 179 through the EU Talent Pool, the European Legal Gateway Office model, and Talent
180 Partnerships with third countries, with a focus on matching skills with labour 181 market needs while ensuring fair recruitment practices and protection of 182 workers' rights;

183 20. Demands the EU to further facilitate cross-border mobility for cultural and 184 educational exchanges with third-country nationals;

185 21. Condemns any proposal regarding migration and asylum policy that relies on 186 building walls and fences, and urges the EU and its Member States to build an 187 open continent instead of a Fortress Europe and internal barriers;

188 22. Demands that the Schengen Agreements are safeguarded at all times, borders 189 be reopened where they have been closed and border controls are put to an end 190 without delay;

191 23. Mandates the EU to review and renegotiate externalisation agreements with 192 third countries, including the EU-Türkiye deal and the Memorandum of 193 Understanding with Tunisia, to ensure they fully respect the 1951 Geneva 194 Convention, include binding human rights clauses, and provide for independent 195 monitoring and accountability mechanisms;

196 24. Urges the EU to withdraw from plans to fund maritime control centres in 197 Libya, including the proposed centre in Benghazi, given documented human rights 198 abuses by Libyan authorities and militias, and to instead prioritise dedicated 199 EU-led search and rescue operations;

200 25. Demands significantly stronger political will towards the Union for the 201 Mediterranean (UfM), among other fora, to forge the necessary partnerships with 202 Southern Neighbourhood states needed to overcome the short-term vision of the EU 203 and its Member States to make development assistance primarily conditional on 204 migration cooperation to the detriment of EU values as well as the quality of 205 broader development goals;

206 26. Urges European leaders to change radically their migration and asylum 207 narratives to make space for more sustainable and humane approaches;

208 27. Commits itself to explore opportunities for cooperation and exchange with 209 young migrants and youth organisations working with refugees and migrants;

210 28. Requires the establishment of effective mechanisms to assess and match the 211 skills of migrants with the labour market needs of Member States, facilitating 212 seamless integration and contributing to the overall prosperity of the EU;

213 29. Mandates Member States to prioritise integration policies, including 214 language training, education, housing, and labour market access, as essential 215 components of a sustainable migration system that ensures social cohesion and 216 public confidence;

217 30. Demands the expansion of youth mobility and civic engagement programmes, 218 ensuring that refugees and vulnerable groups have access to student exchanges, 219 volunteering initiatives, and youth projects with optional financial support 220 from the EU.
