Title: Future of the Eastern Partnership: a new European strategy for the East

Motion text

1 11 November 2023 (lapsing). Renewed for Federal Committee April 2026 Submitted
2 by Political Commission 3: External Affairs & Global Governance

3 The Eastern Partnership (EaP), within the framework of the European 4 Neighbourhood Policy, is a policy of strategic interest to the European Union 5 (EU) and should therefore be reformed so that it may enable an even greater 6 level of cooperation. EaP countries and their citizens have a wish for closer 7 European integration. However, the region can no longer be treated as a single

8 bloc: it now consists of EU accession candidates (Ukraine, Moldova), a country 9 whose European path is blocked by its own government, despite its candidate 10 status (Georgia), a state pivoting towards the EU while maintaining complex 11 economic ties with Russia (Armenia), an authoritarian energy partner 12 (Azerbaijan), and a country under effective Russian occupation (Belarus). Russia 13 still harbours imperialist ambitions on former Soviet republics, instead of 14 respecting their independence and freedom to choose their own future. Russia's 15 continued imperialist agenda prevents peaceful cooperation between the Russian 16 Federation and the European Union while also sowing discontent and instability 17 in the EaP countries.

18 The European Union should demonstrate that it is the main partner for dialogue 19 and cooperation with EaP countries, as well as the best equipped global actor to 20 guarantee peace, stability, progress and respect for democracy and human rights.
21 The EU must respond with a differentiated strategy that offers credible 22 accession perspectives to willing reformers, deepens security cooperation with 23 vulnerable partners, and supports civil society under authoritarian rule. JEF 24 Europe therefore calls for a radical shift in the EU's foreign policy towards 25 the Eastern Partnership based on differentiation, conditionality, and genuine 26 solidarity.

27 JEF Europe,

28 1. Recalling JEF Europe's resolutions, a) "For a common European response to the 29 invasion of Ukraine and the future of Ukraine"; b) "The EU response to the 30 Russian Federation's aggression of Ukraine", strongly condemning Russia's full-31 scale invasion of Ukraine, now in its fourth year, and demanding stronger EU 32 support to Ukraine, including military, financial, and humanitarian assistance;

33 2. Noting with frustration the limits of the EU's foreign policy and the related 34 unanimity rule in the framework of the ENP, which remains too often constrained 35 and paralysed by the conflicting positions of the Member States in the Council, 36 allowing a single country to block sanctions, enlargement steps, or crisis 37 responses;

38 3. Deeply concerned about the human toll of active and unresolved conflicts 39 across the region, including Russia's war against Ukraine, the continued 40 occupation of Georgian

41 territories, Azerbaijan's ethnic cleansing of Nagorno-Karabakh's Armenian 42 population, and the frozen conflict in the Transnistrian region of the Republic 43 of Moldova;

44 4. Denouncing Russia's comprehensive destabilisation campaign aimed at 45 undermining EaP countries through military aggression, hybrid attacks, election 46 interference, disinformation, energy blackmail, trade embargoes, and the 47 conclusion of integration treaties with separatist or breakaway regions, such as 48 South Ossetia, Abkhazia, Transnistria, Crimea, Donetsk, Luhansk, Zaporizhzhia, 49 and Kherson;

50 5. Noting with regret the insufficient reaction of the EU to Russia's violation 51 of Georgian territorial integrity in 2008 and the consequent emboldening of 52 Russia, and insisting that the EU must learn from this failure by adopting a 53 credible deterrence , sanctions and defence policy today;

54 6. Noting with concern, the growing influence and destabilising actions of 55 external actors in the South Caucasus and Black Sea regions, including Türkiye's 56 assertive posture, Iran's deepening ties, and China's expanding economic 57 footprint;

58 7. Having regarded the implementation of the EU-Armenia Comprehensive and 59 Enhanced Partnership Agreement since 2019, and welcoming Armenia's historic 60 pivot towards the European Union, demonstrated by: the effective suspension of 61 its CSTO membership; active participation in the EU civilian mission; the launch 62 of visa liberalisation dialogues; and the adoption of a law on initiating EU 63 accession in early 2025, while noting that Armenia intends to maintain its 64 economic ties with the Eurasian Economic Union;

65 8. Condemning the ethnic cleansing of the entire Armenian population of Nagorno 66 Karabakh by Azerbaijan following Azerbaijan's September 2023 military offensive, 67 and deeply concerned by the lack of provisions for the right of return in the 68 peace agreement concluded in 2025 and ongoing threats to Armenian cultural and 69 religious heritage;

70 9. Deeply concerned that following decoupling from Russia, the EU has become 71 increasingly dependent on other non-democratic regimes like Azerbaijan for 72 energy, without imposing meaningful human rights conditionality, thereby 73 undermining the EU's credibility as a normative power;

74 10. Deeply concerned about Belarus's complete subordination to Russia since the 75 fraudulent 2020 elections, including: the permanent stationing of Russian 76 tactical nuclear weapons; the presence of Wagner Group mercenaries; the 77 integration of Belarusian territory into Russia's military planning; the 78 regime's complicity in the forced deportation of Ukrainian children; and the 79 weaponisation of migration as a hybrid warfare tool, and strongly condemning the 80 continued brutal response of the authorities against the opposition, now largely 81 in exile, in prison, or silenced;

82 11. Applauding the progress made by Ukraine and Moldova towards EU membership, 83 welcoming the opening of accession negotiations with both countries and the 84 completion of bilateral screening, and noting that the European Commission 85 assessed in late 2025 that both countries are ready to open thematic clusters 86 including the fundamental cluster on justice and human rights;

87 12. Condemning the actions of the illegitimate Georgian government led by 88 Georgian Dream including the deliberate dismantling of democratic institutions, 89 including: the adoption of the Russian-style "foreign agents" law; brutal 90 crackdowns on peaceful protesters; anti-LGBTQI+ legislation; and the reversal of 91 democratic reforms, while expressing continued solidarity with the Georgian
92 people's unwavering European aspirations and resistance against the illegitimate

93 regime;

94 13. Additionally deeply concerned about the significant challenges faced by the 95 EaP countries in ensuring an adequate level of human rights standards, as well 96 as the state of democracy and the rule of law;

97 14. Reiterating the importance of freedom of the media, freedom of expression 98 and the activities of non-governmental organisations and human rights defenders, 99 especially represented in youth organisations, in shaping public opinion based 100 on factual information free from foreign interference, hybrid threats and 101 disinformation;

102 15. Recalling the essential contribution of civil society organisations, such as 103 the members of the Eastern Partnership Civil Society Forum, regarding the 104 quality of democracy and their important involvement in the dialogue between the 105 European institutions and the EaP countries;

106 16. Acknowledging that the 'Beyond 2020' framework on the Eastern Partnership 107 has become obsolete given the fundamentally different relationships the EU now 108 maintains with accession candidates, authoritarian regimes, and countries under 109 Russian occupation;

110 17. Reminding that the campaign "Democracy under Pressure", which aims to raise 111 awareness of democratic backsliding, human rights abuses, and challenges to the 112 rule of law, initially in Belarus, is one of JEF's oldest campaigns, and has 113 expanded in relevance to encompass democratic collapse in Georgia, authoritarian 114 consolidation in Azerbaijan, and the ongoing struggle for democracy across the 115 region;

116 18. Noting the launch of the EU's Common Maritime Agenda for the Black Sea and 117 the strategic approach to the Black Sea region adopted in 2025, which 118 establishes three pillars: enhancing security and resilience, fostering 119 sustainable growth, and promoting environmental protection;

120 19. Recognising the importance of climate diplomacy and green transition 121 cooperation with Eastern Partnership countries, particularly in Ukraine, 122 Moldova, and Georgia, as part of the EU's strategic interest in building 123 resilient and sustainable societies;

124 JEF Europe therefore,

- 125 1. Reiterates the EU's commitment to strengthening multilateralism and recalls 126 the importance of developing a common European foreign policy as the only way to 127 pursue peace and international justice;
- 128 2. Demands the introduction of qualified majority voting in particular in 129 foreign policy decisions concerning the Eastern neighbourhood, ending the 130 paralysis caused by individual Member States, who entertain close diplomatic and 131 economic ties with the Russian Federation, blocking sanctions, enlargement 132 steps, or crisis responses;
- 133 3. Insists that the most important area on which the EU's Eastern policy should 134 be focused is the advancement of respect for human rights, the rule of law, and 135 the achievement of a higher standard of democracy, while recognising that the 136 needs differ fundamentally between accession countries, where conditionality 137 applies, countries suffering from armed aggression and authoritarian regimes, 138 where support must flow exclusively to civil society and independent media;
- 139 4. Encourages the EU institutions to further intensify their cooperation with 140 the Council of Europe and the Organisation for Security and Cooperation in 141 Europe in monitoring and implementing strategies and practices aimed at 142 improving the level of democracy, the rule of law, and achieving the expression 143 of political and civil rights for all citizens;
- 144 5. Mandates the EU to maintain and significantly expand sanctions on Belarus 145 indefinitely, targeting sectors enabling Russian military integration, the 146 forced deportation of Ukrainian children, and the regime's hybrid warfare 147 operations, including migration manipulation, and to maintain these sanctions 148 until free and fair elections are held and all political prisoners are released; 149
- 150 6. Requires the EU to significantly increase and simplify funding for local 151 independent civil society, human rights defenders, independent universities, 152 research centres, independent media, and democratic movements across the Eastern 153 neighbourhood, with particular attention to organisations operating under 154 authoritarian regimes where access is restricted and risks are high;
- 155 7. Demands that the EU massively scale up support for independent media, fact- 156 checking organisations, and media literacy programmes as a direct counter to 157 Russian disinformation campaigns and state propaganda;
- 158 8. Insists that the EU actively support EaP countries in safeguarding their 159 rights under international law, including territorial integrity, and champion

160 accountability

161 mechanisms for crimes of aggression, war crimes, and human rights violations 162 committed in the region, through support for international tribunals and 163 prosecution mechanisms;

164 9. Demands that the EU take a leading role in conflict resolution and peace- 165 building across the region, including through expanded civilian monitoring 166 missions such as EUMA in Armenia, active participation in existing negotiation 167 formats, and targeted sanctions against spoilers;

168 10. Insists that any peace agreements addressing regional conflicts include 169 explicit provisions for the right of return of displaced populations and 170 protection of cultural and religious heritage;

171 11. Demands that energy cooperation with Azerbaijan be conditioned on meaningful 172 human rights compliance, with suspension mechanisms for continued violations, 173 including review of the EU-Azerbaijan Partnership and Cooperation Agreement, 174 imposing targeted sanctions on those responsible for arbitrary detention, and 175 freezing expanded energy cooperation until tangible human rights progress is 176 made;

177 12. Calls on the EU to articulate a clear and differentiated long-term strategy 178 for the Eastern neighbourhood, offering credible EU membership to willing and 179 reform-minded countries, deepening security and defence cooperation to counter 180 Russian aggression, supporting the resilience of societies under authoritarian 181 rule, and keeping the door open to all Eastern partners that demonstrate genuine 182 commitment to European values and reforms;

183 13. Demands that the EU pursue a merit-based but politically ambitious 184 enlargement agenda that:

185 ● maintains momentum in accession negotiations with Ukraine and Moldova, 186 supporting the opening of the fundamental cluster on justice and human rights;
187

188 ● offers a credible European perspective to Georgia, conditional on a 189 fundamental reversal of anti-democratic legislation;

190 ● explores deepened political association with Armenia should it continue its 191 European orientation, while acknowledging its complex economic ties; 192

193 ● keeps the door open to other Eastern partners that demonstrate genuine

194 commitment to European values;

195 14. Insists on the full implementation of Association Agreements and Deep and 196 Comprehensive Free Trade Areas with willing and reform-minded countries, and 197 calls for their gradual extension to cover sectoral integration in energy, 198 digital markets, transport, and green transition, as a pathway to closer 199 economic alignment with the EU single market;

200 15. Supports deeper sectoral integration between the EU and willing Eastern 201 partners, including:

202 ● transport connectivity through extension of TEN-T networks;

203 ● digital integration through roaming agreements and harmonisation of digital 204 markets;

205 ● energy cooperation through synchronisation of grids and renewable energy 206 partnerships;

207 ● green transition through access to EU climate financing;

208 16. Insists on the role that the EU, in cooperation with civil society 209 organisations, must play in promoting civil and political rights, in ensuring 210 the protection of ethnic and religious minorities including Armenians remaining 211 in Azerbaijan and national minorities in Georgia, and in defending the civil 212 rights of the most discriminated and harassed members of society, including 213 those in the LGBTIQI+ community who face increasing state-sponsored persecution
214 in several EaP countries;

215 17. Requires a major expansion of EU youth programmes in the Eastern 216 neighbourhood, including Erasmus+, European Solidarity Corps, and dedicated 217 youth mobility schemes, with simplified visa procedures and increased funding to 218 ensure that young people in Ukraine, Moldova, Georgia, and Armenia (including 219 refugees and vulnerable groups) have meaningful opportunities for education, 220 training, and exchange within the EU;

221 18. Calls on the EU to grant observer status in the European Committee of the 222 Regions and the European Economic and Social Committee to Ukraine and Moldova, 223 and to maintain such status for Georgia only if democratic progress resumes;

224 19. Mandates full implementation of the EU's Common Maritime Agenda for the

225 Black Sea, with adequate funding for military mobility infrastructure, a 226 maritime security monitoring hub, and connectivity corridors;

227 20. Urges the EU to finalise a legal framework for the confiscation of frozen
228 Russian state assets for the reconstruction of Ukraine, extending this principle 229 to Belarusian regime assets.
